I am an experienced artist and my work reflects the magnificence of the Fitzgerald River National Park. I work in water colours, acrylics, gouache, pastels and photography. In 2006 I facilitated the artwork for the Hopetoun Ablution Mural, a community project which involved over forty local people.

For several years I have been running summer workshops in Hopetoun for adults and children and have organised art trips into the Fitzgerald River National Park.

This year I will be offering a variety of workshops and have been invited to use the scenic Jerdacuttup River location of Springdale, the property of Mary Richardson and the site of the only straw bale house in the Hopetoun/Ravensthorpe district.

Participants in the workshops will be required to bring their own materials, however charcoal and pastels will be provided for the drawing workshop. A material list will be provided and a selection of materials will be available for purchase at the workshop.
